A Free Workshop for Building Welcoming and Inclusive Workplaces – Orientation, Retention and Promotion of New Immigrant Employees

Workshop Summary

New immigrants bring skills, experience and new ideas. Culturally diverse staff open doors to new markets, improve customer service, offer experience and expertise and create innovative and productive workforces. This 90 minute workshop is intended for employers, managers, and HR specialists who are looking for information and resources to facilitate the recruitment, hiring, orientation and career development of new immigrant staff. All attendees will receive a guidebook of tools, tips, strategies and links to additional resources.

This workshop has been developed by DIVERSEcity Community Resources with funding from the governments of BC and Canada. These three workshops will be provided at no cost to participants.

Presenter

Jody Johnson, Principal, PEERs Employment and Education Resources Inc., has more than twenty years experience assisting employers, new immigrants, government and community service providers create workplaces and communities that work for everyone. She is recognized for her knowledge on cultural diversity and immigrant workforce integration. Jody is an engaging presenter and has facilitated more than 250 workshops on this and related subjects.
